Footnotes:

Some footnotes apply only to the 18-year series available online.

- a Population figures from 1989–1991 are projections from Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (ESCAP). The 1992 and 2002 figures are census data. The 2004 and 2006 figures are projections of the Secretariat of the Pacific Community. Figures for the rest of the years in between censuses are staff estimates.
- b Includes mining, and electricity, gas, and water.
- c Includes hotels and restaurants.
- d Composed of the following subsectors: financial intermediation, real estate, renting and business services; public administration and defense, compulsory social security; education, health and social work, other community, social and personal services; and private households with employed persons.
- e Computed residual between total GDP and gross value added by industry.
- f Refers to household final consumption expenditure.
- g Sum of the components does not equal the total. GDP was estimated independently of the components.
- h Computed residual between gross capital formation and gross fixed capital formation.
- i 1995–2002 data are available in million US dollars. Figures were converted to Australian dollars using the exchange rates from the International Monetary Fund, International Financial Statistics.
- j Prior to 1990, covers trade with Australia and New Zealand only.
