

Christophe GRANDCOLAS is a tax administration modernization consultant and Conservateur des Hypothèques, French Tax Administration of the French Ministry of Finance, Direction Générale des Impôts (DGI). He was the Tax Administration and Policy Advisor at the Pacific Financial Technical Centre in Fiji . He joined the International Monetary Fund as member of the Fiscal Affairs Department's panel of experts in 1976 and then became a Headquarters-based consultant in 1993. During this period he was involved in numerous technical assistance missions in a broad range of countries, including a number of missions in support of the modernization of tax and customs departments and the implementation of a VAT. He has significant experience as long- term advisor to governments of Mauritius, Ivory Coast, the Gabon, Madagascar, Comoros, Haiti, Lebanon, Tunisia, and Algeria. He holds a masters degree in economics from the Universities of Paris and Clermont-Ferrand. He graduated from the French National Tax School in 1970 and National Accountant Board in 1974.