These policies and procedures were prepared for use by ADB staff and are not necessarily a complete treatment of the subject. This Operations Manual was prepared by the Office of the Secretary (SEC) and issued by the Strategy, Policy, and Partnerships Department, with the approval of the President. Questions may be directed to the advisor and head, Information Access Unit of SEC.

ACCESS TO INFORMATION POLICY

A. Introduction

1. The objective of the Access to Information Policy (AIP) (endnote i) is to promote stakeholder trust in the Asian Development Bank (ADB) and to increase the development impact of ADB activities. The policy reflects ADB's commitment to transparency, accountability, and participation of stakeholders in ADB-supported development activities in Asia and the Pacific. It also recognizes the right of people to seek, receive, and impart information about ADB's operations.

2. The policy applies to documents and information that ADB produces, that ADB requires its borrowers or clients to produce, or that other parties produce and provide to ADB in the course of ADB operations. The policy will be implemented in accordance with detailed arrangements approved by ADB Management and made publicly available in accordance with ADB's normal procedures.<sup>1</sup>

B. Policy Principles

3. The AIP is based on the following principles:

- (i) Clear, timely, and appropriate disclosure. ADB discloses information about its operations in a clear, timely, and appropriate manner to enhance stakeholders' ability to meaningfully engage with ADB and to promote good governance.
- (ii) Presumption in favor of disclosure. ADB discloses information unless that information falls within the exceptions to disclosure specified in the policy.
- (iii) Limited exceptions. Full disclosure of information is not always possible. For example, ADB needs to explore ideas, share information, hold candid discussions, and freely debate ideas internally and with its members or clients. It also needs to consider the special requirements of its nonsovereign operations and clients,<sup>2</sup> protect the right to privacy of its personnel, and safeguard its and its clients' legitimate business interests. The policy provides a limited set of exceptions that balances the rights and interests of various parties. However, ADB reserves the right, under exceptional circumstances, to override the policy exceptions (para. 18

<sup>2</sup> A legally binding undertaking not to divulge clients' confidential business information is a standard requirement for private sector financial institutions, as well as for ADB's comparators, to engage in business with clients. The need for protection of confidential business information is also widely recognized in freedom of information laws, which include an exception for the release of commercial information obtained in confidence.

of the AIP) or not to disclose information that it would normally disclose (para. 19 of the AIP).

- (iv) Proactive disclosure. ADB proactively shares its knowledge products and information about its operations in a timely manner to facilitate participation in ADB decision-making. Although the ADB website remains the primary vehicle for proactive disclosure, ADB also uses other appropriate means to disclose and communicate information.
- (v) Sharing of information and ideas. The AIP includes processes by which people may equally seek, receive, and convey information and ideas about ADB operations. Effective communications and exchange of information and ideas with stakeholders is a vital component of effective and sustainable development.
- (vi) Providing information to project-affected people and other stakeholders. ADB works closely with its borrowers and clients to ensure two-way communications about ADB projects with project-affected people and other stakeholders. This is done within a timeframe, using relevant languages,<sup>3</sup> and in a way that allows project-affected people and other stakeholders to provide meaningful inputs into project design and implementation.
- (vii) Country and client ownership. ADB borrowers and clients own the projects that ADB supports or in which the bank invests. Thus, in some cases, the views of borrowers and clients regarding the content and timing of disclosure are considered before documents are disclosed.
- (viii) Clear appeals process. A clear process to appeal an ADB decision not to disclose requested information is an important part of a meaningful disclosure framework.
- (ix) Continuous monitoring. ADB monitors the effectiveness of the policy, learns lessons from its successes and shortcomings, and stays abreast of new technologies and practices.

C. Exceptions to Disclosure

4. ADB discloses information in its possession that does not fall under any of the policy exceptions. The exceptions are based on ADB's determination that disclosing certain types of information would cause harm to specific parties or interests that would outweigh the benefits of disclosure. A harm–benefit assessment is the process of weighing the likely adverse effects of disclosure against the benefits likely to accrue from disclosure. In the context of ADB's disclosure principles (para. 15 of the AIP), particularly the presumption in favor of disclosure, the harm–benefit assessment and the basis for nondisclosure are limited to the categories of information described in para. 17 of the AIP. If a document or part of a document is not disclosed because it contains information that falls under one or more of the policy exceptions, ADB cites the exception(s) for nondisclosure.

5. Subject to the policy's provision regarding the positive override (para. 18 of the AIP), the following categories of information or documents are not disclosed:

1. Deliberative and Decision-Making Process

Information that informs the deliberative or decision-making process of ADB is generally exempt from disclosure. This category of exception is based on the premise that deliberations, debates, and advice that inform decision-making must be free and candid. This comprises the following:

- (i) Internal information that, if disclosed, would or would likely compromise the integrity of ADB's deliberative and decision-making process, by inhibiting the candid exchange of ideas, views, and approaches, and thereby adversely affect the quality of decisions and outcomes for ADB and its stakeholders. Examples include advice and ideas exchanged between Board members, directors' advisors, members of Management, ADB staff, and ADB consultants that are generally deliberative in nature. While ADB typically discloses the results of its decision-making processes, it may not disclose all the ideas, views, and approaches that led to such decisions because stakeholders need to freely present and debate such ideas, views, and approaches.
- (ii) Proceedings of the Board of Directors,<sup>4</sup> except for Board papers,<sup>5</sup> verbatim transcripts,<sup>6</sup> minutes of Board meetings,<sup>7</sup> and chair's summaries of certain Board meetings,<sup>8</sup> because disclosure of such documents would inhibit the frank exchange of ideas, views, and approaches among Board members.

<sup>4</sup> Proceedings of the Board of Directors are confidential in accordance with Section 9 of the Rules of Procedure of the Board of Directors of the Asian Development Bank. For the purpose of this policy, the term "Proceedings of the Board of Directors" refers to any document or information created for, or in, meetings and deliberations of the Board of Directors and Board committees, and comprise Board papers (documents circulated to the Board of Directors for information, discussion, or consideration) and Board records (e.g., statements made or filed during Board of Directors' meetings or committee meetings, verbatim transcripts, minutes, and/or chair's summaries of committee meetings; and memoranda or other communications between ADB Management, departments, or the Secretary and the Board, Board committees, and/or offices of the executive directors, in all formats, including electronic).

<sup>5</sup> Unless restricted by policy exemptions, documents circulated to the Board of Directors for information are posted on the website upon circulation. Documents circulated to the Board for consideration are generally disclosed upon approval or endorsement by the Board.

<sup>6</sup> Verbatim transcripts of formal meetings of the Board of Directors may be disclosed on request and in their entirety 10 years after the date of their creation, provided that the formal Board meetings were held on or after 2 April 2012 and the Access to Information Committee determines they do not contain or refer to any information that falls within the policy exceptions.

<sup>7</sup> Minutes of each regular Board of Directors meeting are disclosed after approval of the minutes by the Board but no later than 60 calendar days after the original Board meeting. This applies to regular Board meetings held on or after 1 September 2005.

<sup>8</sup> Chair's summaries of each Board of Directors discussion on a country partnership strategy and regional cooperation strategy and each policy or strategy approved or endorsed by the Board at a formal Board meeting are disclosed within 14 days of the date of their final circulation to the Board.

OPERATIONS MANUAL

- (iii) Information exchanged, prepared for, or derived from the deliberative and decision-making process between ADB and its members and other entities ADB cooperates with. If disclosed, this information would or would likely compromise the integrity of the deliberative and decision-making process among ADB and its members or other entities ADB cooperates with by inhibiting the candid exchange of ideas, views, and approaches.

2. Information Provided in Confidence

- (iv) Information provided to ADB by a member or other party in confidence. ADB has an obligation to protect such information and does not disclose the information without the express written permission of that other member or party.
- (v) Proprietary information or any information provided to ADB by a party that, if disclosed, would or would likely materially prejudice the commercial interests, financial interests, or competitive position of the party that was the source of the information or another party that may be affected by the disclosure of the information.
- (vi) Confidential business information covered by a confidentiality agreement or nondisclosure agreement that ADB has entered into with clients or other related parties.

3. Personal Information

- (vii) Any personal information that, if disclosed, would or would likely materially compromise the legitimate privacy interests of the person concerned, except to the extent permitted by the person concerned or by ADB rules. Some examples include information relating to their appointment and selection process, terms of employment, performance evaluations, personal medical information, personal communications, information relating to proceedings of internal conflict resolution and appeal mechanisms, and information related to investigations.

4. Financial Information

- (viii) Financial information that, if disclosed, would or would likely prejudice the legitimate financial or commercial interests of ADB and its operations. Some examples include estimates of ADB's future borrowings, financial forecasts, data on individual investment decisions for ADB's treasury operations, credit assessments, analyses of creditworthiness, credit ratings, risk assessments of its borrowers and other clients, and any information to which capital and financial markets may be sensitive.
- (ix) Financial information that, if disclosed, would or would likely prejudice the ability of a member to manage its economy.

5. Security and Safety

- (x) Information that, if disclosed, would or would likely endanger the life, health, safety, or security of any individual; the safety or security of ADB assets; or prejudice the defense or national security of a member.

6. Legal and Investigative Matters

- (xi) Any information subject to attorney–client privilege (including communications to or from ADB counsel or its external legal advisors) or any information that, if disclosed, would or would likely undermine legitimate attorney–client interests or violate applicable law.<sup>9</sup>
- (xii) Information provided to ADB alleging fraud, corruption, or other violation of ADB's Anticorruption Policy<sup>10</sup> or misconduct; or relating to any investigation of alleged fraud, corruption, or other violation of ADB's Anticorruption Policy or misconduct. Any information that, if disclosed, would or would likely materially prejudice an investigation or the administration of justice; except, in either case, to the extent permitted by and in accordance with ADB rules. This also applies to the identity of the party making the allegation (whistleblower), unless such whistleblower consents to the disclosure of his or her identity, or except to the extent permitted by and in accordance with ADB rules.

7. Internal Audit Reports and Trust Fund Audit Reports<sup>11</sup>

- (xiii) (a) Internal audit reports of ADB's Office of the Auditor General, as such reports may contain sensitive information about internal systems, which could be exploited by third parties to the detriment of ADB; and (b) certain audit reports of ADB's external auditors on ADB-administered trust funds, where the applicable auditing standards limit disclosure of these reports and related financial statements.<sup>12</sup>

D. Public Interest Override (Positive Override)

6. ADB has the right to disclose, under exceptional circumstances, information that falls under the exceptions to disclosure if the bank determines that the public interest in disclosing the information outweighs the harm that may be caused by disclosure. Any recommendation to disclose or deny such information requires the approval of the Board of Directors for Board records and the President for other documents.

<sup>12</sup> Certain trust fund financial statements are prepared in accordance with donors' accounting requirements, which may be different from the accounting standards generally accepted in the United States (US), and are audited in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the US (which are applicable to ADB). Such auditing standards limit the disclosure of financial statements prepared in accordance with accounting standards other than those generally accepted in the US and the associated audit opinion to those who have a specified interest in the fund, i.e., contributors and those responsible for managing and/or administering the fund.

E. ADB's Prerogative to Restrict Access (Negative Override)

7. ADB also has the right not to disclose, under exceptional circumstances, information that it would normally disclose if it determines that such disclosure would or would likely cause harm that outweighs the benefit of disclosure. Only the Board of Directors exercises this prerogative.

F. Historical Information

8. Any information concerning ADB operations held by ADB for more than 20 years from the date such information was produced by, or provided to, ADB, is considered historical information. Historical proceedings of the Board of Directors are disclosable on request provided the Access to Information Committee (AIC) determines that such proceedings of the Board do not contain or refer to any information that falls within any of the policy exceptions, taking into consideration the provisions in para. 17(ii) of the AIP. All other historical information is disclosable on request except for information that falls within the exceptions and shall remain exempt from disclosure (information provided in confidence, personal information, security and safety information, and/or legal and investigative matters).

G. Requests for Information

9. All requests for information and documents must be made in writing. Requests may be directed to ADB headquarters, a resident mission, a representative office, or any ADB department or office. Details on where to send information requests are on the ADB website. Requests should indicate with reasonable specificity the information that is being sought to enable ADB to locate the information within a reasonable period.

10. Requests may be submitted to ADB in English or in any of the official or national languages of ADB members.<sup>13</sup>

11. ADB is not required to comply with or respond to unsupported requests, blanket requests, or any request that would require ADB to create, develop, or collate information or data that do not already exist or are not available in its records management system. This also applies to requests for information on the same subject from the same person, organization, or group if ADB has provided such information after a previous request or has given reasons why it cannot provide the information.

12. ADB promptly acknowledges the receipt of a request and communicates its decision on the request.<sup>14</sup> For complex requests,<sup>15</sup> ADB may extend the deadline for responding to the request, provided the requester is notified and acknowledges the extension.

<sup>13</sup> English is used as the standard language for ADB responses to requests. Responses may be translated depending on local circumstances.

<sup>14</sup> Where ADB uses its prerogative under para. 18 (positive override) or para. 19 (negative override) of the AIP, ADB will communicate to the requester once a final decision has been made. The requester will be notified of any extension, as appropriate.

<sup>15</sup> Complex requests include seeking information from multiple sources and large numbers of documents, collecting information over multiple years, collating and correlating raw data, and providing findings.

H. Access to Information Committee

13. The AIC is an oversight body established to interpret, monitor, and review the policy and its implementation arrangements. It comprises senior ADB personnel nominated by the President and reports to the President. The AIC convenes as needed to review requests for information that have been denied by ADB departments or offices. The AIC also considers and make decisions concerning appeals (para. 28 of the AIP). The AIC has the authority to (i) uphold or reverse decisions made by ADB departments and offices to deny access to information and (ii) consider requests for disclosure in the public interest of information covered by a policy exception (para. 18 of the AIP).

I. Appeals

14. ADB has a two-stage appeals process that requesters can use when they believe that ADB has denied their request for information in violation of this policy. Details on where to send appeals are on the ADB website. The remedy available to a requester who prevails on any appeal is limited to receiving the information requested.

15. The two-stage appeals process is described below.

1. First Stage: Access to Information Committee

16. A requester who is denied access to information by ADB may file an appeal with the AIC if the requester can (i) show that an initial request for information was submitted in accordance with the required procedures set forth in the policy and (ii) either provide a reasonable argument that ADB has violated the policy by denying access to the requested information or make a public interest case as described in para. 18 of the AIP to override the policy exception(s).

2. Second Stage: Independent Appeals Panel

17. If the AIC upholds the initial decision to deny a request for information, and the requester still believes that ADB has violated its policy by withholding the information, the requester may file an appeal with the Independent Appeals Panel (IAP). The IAP has the authority to uphold or reverse the decision of the AIC. The IAP's decision is final.

18. The IAP does not have the authority to consider appeals concerning (i) decisions by the Board of Directors or the President if the appeal is based on the public interest override or (ii) decisions by the Board of Directors to use its prerogative to restrict access to information normally disclosed.

19. The IAP comprises three external experts on access to information, independent from ADB. The ADB President appoints the IAP members with the approval of the Board of Directors.

3. Submission of Appeals and Notification of Decisions

20. All appeals to the AIC must be filed in writing within 90 calendar days after ADB's initial decision to deny access to the requested information. All appeals to the IAP must be submitted in writing within 90 calendar days after the AIC's decision to uphold ADB's initial decision to deny access. Appeals received beyond the 90-day period for filing an appeal are not considered. All appeals should contain the following:

- (i) a description of the information originally requested, and
- (x) an explanatory statement that sets out the facts and the grounds that support the requester's claim that ADB violated the policy or that the public interest override applies.

21. Requesters are notified if the appeal is dismissed (i) for a failure to file within the required time, (ii) for a failure to provide sufficient information that would reasonably support the appeal, or (iii) because the AIC or the IAP does not have authority to consider the matter being appealed.

J. Relation of the Access to Information Policy to Other Policies

22. Any reference in the AIP to other ADB policies includes those other policies as amended from time to time.

K. Compliance Review

23. The AIP is subject to the appeals process (paras. 26–33 of the AIP). The AIP is an “operational policy” within the meaning of the ADB Accountability Mechanism Policy. As such, complaints by project-affected people alleging ADB's violation of the AIP in the course of the formulation, processing, or implementation of a project can also be filed under ADB's Accountability Mechanism Policy.<sup>16</sup>

24. This Operations Manual (OM) section, including its appendix, is subject to compliance review.<sup>17</sup>

L. Policy Monitoring and Amendments

25. ADB will monitor the implementation of the AIP and post annual reports on its website. Amendments to the AIP may be made from time to time with approval of the Board of Directors.

IMPLEMENTATION ARRANGEMENTS

1. In line with the presumption in favor of disclosure in the Access to Information Policy (AIP), ADB discloses information unless that information falls within the exceptions to disclosure. ADB works closely with its borrowers<sup>1</sup> and clients<sup>2</sup> to prepare and implement projects, programs, and policies. In doing so, ADB informs them of the principles and disclosure requirements of the AIP. The AIP applies to documents and information that ADB produces, requires to be produced by its borrowers or clients, or are produced and provided to ADB by other parties in the course of ADB operations.

A. Disclosure of Documents

2. The following categories of documents are routinely disclosed on the ADB website and/or, if specified, disseminated to stakeholders after consultations with respective borrowers or clients, as appropriate:

- (i) Policies, strategies, operational rules, and procedures. Annex 1 provides a list of routinely disclosed information and documents pertaining to these categories of information and their disclosure timelines.
- (ii) Country partnership strategies and regional cooperation strategies. Annex 2 provides a list of routinely posted information and documents pertaining to these categories of information and their disclosure timelines.
- (iii) Projects. To inform external stakeholders of projects during preparation and implementation, ADB routinely discloses information and documents related to sovereign and nonsovereign projects, including project data sheets and project safeguard documents submitted by the borrower or client. ADB also routinely discloses other information related to projects, including cofinancing information and anticorruption information. Annex 3 provides a list of routinely disclosed project information and documents and their disclosure timelines. Annex 4 provides a list of routinely disclosed evaluation reports produced by ADB's Independent Evaluation Department.
- (iv) Other information. ADB routinely posts information related to procurement, country performance assessments of Asian Development Fund recipient countries, information related to Asian Development Fund negotiations, its Annual Report, economic data and research, ADB administrative information, financial information, employment information, and information produced under ADB's Accountability Mechanism. Annex 5 provides a list of other ADB information and documents routinely disclosed and their disclosure timelines.

3. ADB, at its own discretion, appropriately redacts, abbreviates, or withholds documents from disclosure if information or a whole document falls under the AIP's exceptions to disclosure. In the case of a document where only portions are redacted or abbreviated, the explanation is made inside the document unless citing the removed information would itself violate an AIP exception. If an entire document is withheld, the website refers to the title of the document unless citing the document would itself violate an AIP exception.

4. The categories of routinely disclosed documents is updated as necessary. Although a document is deemed disclosed when it appears on the ADB website, other methods may be used to reach stakeholders.

5. Unless restricted by other provisions in the AIP, documents submitted to the Board of Directors for information are posted on the ADB website upon<sup>3</sup> circulation to the Board. Board documents submitted to the Board for consideration are posted on the ADB website upon approval or endorsement by the Board.

B. Providing Information to Project-Affected People and Other Stakeholders

6. To facilitate dialogue with project-affected people and other interested stakeholders, including women, the poor, and other vulnerable groups, ADB works closely with the borrower or client to ensure that information about sovereign and nonsovereign projects is provided in a timely manner, form, and language(s) understandable to them<sup>4</sup> and in an accessible place. This process starts early in the project preparation phase to support consultations and allow stakeholders' views to be adequately considered in the project design and continue at each stage of project preparation, processing, and implementation. Relevant information about major changes to project scope and likely impacts is also shared.

7. ADB assists borrowers and clients in developing a project communications strategy. This is an integral part of consultation and participation by affected people and other interested stakeholders. The communications strategy is not a separate document but is presented in the dedicated section of the project administration manual and/or by cross-referencing relevant information included in the project administration manual or other project documents. Communications strategies should describe two-way communications and include, at a minimum, (i) the types of information to be communicated; (ii) the mechanisms for public notice, including language and timing; and (iii) the responsibility for implementing and monitoring information disclosure and dissemination.

8. The communications strategy helps borrowers and clients to involve project-affected people in the design and implementation of ADB projects, and increases involvement of grassroots and civil society organizations in the development process by broadening and ensuring their access to information.<sup>5</sup>

9. ADB ensures that a project information focal point is designated for regular contact with project-affected people and other interested stakeholders. This is done as early as possible during project preparation and continues through to the end of the project. For ADB, the information focal

<sup>3</sup> "Upon" means within 14 calendar days of the given milestone (e.g., approval, circulation, completion, endorsement, discussion, issuance, receipt, or submission).

<sup>4</sup> This could include making information available through various formats—e.g., brochures, graphics, dramatizations – and channels—as appropriate.

<sup>5</sup> The requirements for consultations and participation in projects are found in other policies and documents. The AIP provides the background for consultation and participation with project-affected people and stakeholders.

point is always the project officer. The borrower or client needs to appoint its own information focal point(s) according to the project's needs.

C. Translation

10. English is the working language of ADB.<sup>6</sup> However, documents and other information is often translated into other languages to encourage project-affected people and other stakeholders to understand, support, and participate in ADB operations. The type and extent of translation of documents or information depends on the context and the need but may include information that (i) addresses ADB's overall business, policies, and strategic thinking targeted to a wide international audience; (ii) is for public consultation, particularly with project-affected people; (iii) relates to specific countries and projects; and (iv) is intended for the ADB website. Documents that should be translated are (i) country partnership strategies, where English is not widely spoken; (ii) project data sheets; and (iii) other project or safeguard information, as needed. ADB's translation guidelines provide more guidance.<sup>7</sup>

D. Responding to External Requests for Information

11. External requests for information are sent to ADB through (i) the online request for information form, (ii) e-mail contact forms on the website, (iii) directly to staff e-mail addresses, and (iv) mail or fax. Contact details are found on the ADB website (www.adb.org).

12. When a request for information is received, the ADB department, office, or staff concerned determines whether the requested document or information is already publicly available. If so, the link or copy of the document is sent to the requester. If not, ADB determines (i) if it has the requested document or information and (ii) whether all or part of it contains information that falls under any of the AIP exceptions. If part of the information contained in it falls under an exception, ADB removes the information before providing it and informs the requester why it was removed. ADB consults with the borrower, client, or cofinancier, as appropriate. The Information Access Unit in the Office of the Secretary provides guidance to ADB staff, as necessary.

13. ADB acknowledges external requests for information within 7 calendar days of receiving the request and responds within 30 calendar days of receiving the request. In its response, ADB either provides the requested information or the reason(s) why the request has been denied, indicating the provision(s) in the AIP that justifies the refusal. In case ADB denies the request, the requester has the right to appeal in accordance with the appeals process described in the AIP. ADB may extend the deadline for responding to complex requests or requests for historical information,<sup>8</sup> provided the requester is notified and acknowledges the extension. When historical information is requested, the document owner or the originating department of the document ascertains whether it contains information that falls under any of the AIP exceptions. ADB monitors information requests and post details on its website.

E. Appeals Mechanism

14. First stage. An external requester who is denied access to information by ADB may file a written appeal with the Access to Information Committee (AIC)<sup>9</sup> if the requester can (i) make a public interest case to override the exception(s) to disclosure of such information, and/or (ii) provide a reasonable argument that ADB has violated the AIP or its implementation arrangements by restricting access to the requested information. Contact details are found on the ADB website (Appeals | Asian Development Bank \(adb.org\)).

15. Appeals must be sent to the AIC within 90 calendar days of ADB's initial decision to deny access to the requested information. Appeals received beyond the 90-day period are deemed out of time and are not considered. An appeal should contain (i) a description of the information originally requested, and (ii) an explanatory statement setting out the facts and the grounds that apply to the public interest override or that support the requester's claim that ADB violated the AIP or its implementation arrangements.

16. The AIC considers appeals for disclosure of information in the public interest. Any recommendation by the AIC to disclose or deny disclosure of information in the public interest requires the approval of (i) the Board of Directors for Board records, or (ii) the President for other documents. Their decisions on public interest appeals are final.

17. The AIC also considers appeals alleging violation(s) of the AIP or its implementation arrangements. The AIC acknowledges receipt of an appeal within 7 calendar days of receiving the appeal. It notifies the requester of ADB's decision within 30 calendar days of receiving the appeal except for cases that require approval of the Board of Directors. In such cases, the AIC notifies the requester within 14 calendar days of the Board of Directors' decision.

18. Second stage. If the AIC upholds the initial decision to deny a request for information, the requester may file a written appeal with the Independent Appeals Panel (IAP).<sup>10</sup>

19. Appeals to the IAP must be submitted within 90 calendar days of the AIC's decision to uphold ADB's initial decision to deny access. Appeals received beyond the 90-day period are deemed out of time and are not considered. An appeal should contain (i) a description of the information originally requested, and (ii) an explanatory statement setting out the facts and the grounds that support the requester's claim that ADB violated the AIP or its implementation arrangements.

20. In reviewing an appeal from the AIC, the IAP considers the AIP exceptions and statements, if any, filed by ADB and/or any concerned third party regarding disclosure of the requested information. The IAP rules on appeals and informs the requester of its decision no later than 45 calendar days after receiving the appeal. The IAP has the authority to uphold or reverse the decision of the AIC on allegations of violation of the AIP or its implementation arrangements. The IAP decision is final.

21. The IAP does not consider appeals concerning (i) requests for the public interest override or (ii) the negative override prerogative of the Board of Directors.

22. The remedy available to a requester who prevails in an appeal is limited to receiving the information requested. ADB posts on its website a list of all appeals received, the nature of each appeal, and the decision taken in each case. Annex 6 shows the appeals process.

F. Monitoring

23. ADB staff regularly monitor compliance with disclosure requirements. ADB reports on policy implementation, challenges and proposed solutions, and/or changes to policy implementation in the AIP annual report. The report is circulated to the Board of Directors at about the same time as other ADB annual reports and posted on the ADB website upon circulation to the Board of Directors.

G. Amendments

24. Changes to the AIP's implementation arrangements are posted on the ADB website. Major changes that substantially alter the disclosure requirements, information request process, or appeals processes will undergo appropriate consultation. This does not apply to revisions that reflect changes in other ADB policies.

ADB = Asian Development Bank, AIC = Access to Information Committee, AIP = Access to Information Policy, IAP = Independent Appeals Panel.

<sup>a</sup> ADB. 2018. Access to Information Policy. Manila. The IAP does not consider appeals against decisions taken by the Board or the President, as the case may be, if the appeal is based on the public interest override or appeals against decisions taken by the Board using their prerogative to deny access to information normally disclosed (negative override). ## ANNEX 7: TERMS OF REFERENCE AND PRACTICES OF THE ACCESS TO INFORMATION COMMITTEE

1. The Access to Information Policy (AIP) of the Asian Development Bank (ADB) calls for the creation of the Access to Information Committee (AIC). This committee is an oversight body that interprets, monitors, and reviews the AIP and its implementation arrangements.

A. Composition

2. The AIC is composed of Senior Staff of the Office of the Secretary (SEC), Office of the General Counsel (OGC), and the Department of Communications and Knowledge Management (DOCK). The chair and members of the AIC are appointed by the President and report directly to the President. The President may revise the composition of the AIC as deemed necessary.

3. The AIC members shall be free from any relationship that, in the opinion of the President, would interfere with the exercise of their judgment as members of the committee. The AIC members shall inform the President of any circumstances that may be reasonably perceived to interfere with the exercise of their judgment as members of the committee.

B. Responsibilities

4. The AIC has the following responsibilities:

- (i) respond to requests for policy interpretations;
- (ii) consider first-stage appeals to decisions made by ADB departments, offices, and staff to deny requests for access to information, except for decisions by ADB's Board of Directors under ADB's prerogative to restrict access (negative override);
- (iii) consider requests for disclosure in the public interest of documents or information covered by a policy exception (positive override);
- (iv) review and endorse for approval recommendations to amend provisions of the AIP and/or change and/or update sections of the related Operations Manual;<sup>1</sup> and
- (v) review and endorse to the President for approval the annual report on the implementation of the AIP.

C. Meetings

5. The AIC convenes as needed to perform its responsibilities. The AIC may invite other staff to sit as part of the responsibilities above if their expertise would be useful or if a member recuses himself or herself or cannot attend. Other ADB staff may attend the meetings of the AIC.<sup>2</sup>

D. Administrative Arrangements

6. SEC's Information Access Unit (SEC-IAU) is responsible for providing administrative services for the AIC.

E. Procedures for Addressing First-Stage Information Appeals

7. An external requester may approach the AIC if he or she believes that a request for information has been unreasonably denied because (i) the AIP has been interpreted improperly by ADB staff or because (ii) disclosure is in the public interest.
8. The AIC acknowledges receipt of the request within 7 calendar days.
9. The AIC convenes as soon as possible to consider the request. In considering denials of requested information, the AIC considers the AIP's exceptions to disclosure, as well as the public's interest in disclosure of the requested information.
10. The AIC notifies the requester of ADB's decision in writing, giving its reasons, as soon as a decision has been made and, in any event, within 30 calendar days of receiving the request.

F. Procedures for Oversight of the Positive and Negative Overrides

1. Public Interest (Positive) Override

11. Requests for ADB to disclose documents and/or information that is covered by the AIP exceptions to disclosure are filed with the AIC through SEC-IAU. A decision to disclose a document or information that ADB would normally withhold requires the approval of the Board of Directors for Board records and the ADB President for other documents or information.
12. The AIC acknowledges the request within 7 calendar days of receipt of the request. The AIC consults with the owner of the requested document and/or information and determines whether the public interest in disclosing the information outweighs the harm that may be caused by such disclosure.
13. The AIC makes a recommendation to disclose or withhold the requested document and/or information to the Board of Directors for Board records and the ADB President for other documents or information.
14. The Board of Directors or the ADB President approves or overturns the recommendation of the AIC. The recommendation of the AIC on public interest concerning Board records is circulated to the Board of Directors on a no-objection basis.
15. The AIC, through SEC-IAU, informs the requester of ADB's decision within 20 days of receipt of the request.

2. Negative Override: ADB's Prerogative to Withhold Documents and/or Information Normally Disclosed

16. A decision to withhold from disclosure a document or information that is normally disclosed (negative override) can only be taken by the Board of Directors.
17. The AIC prepares a paper containing an ADB recommendation to withhold a document for consideration by the Board of Directors. This is provided on a no-objection basis. The AIC conveys the Board of Directors' decision to relevant ADB staff.

G. Procedures for Responding to a Request for a Board of Directors Meeting Verbatim Transcript

18. Verbatim transcripts of formal Board of Directors' meetings may be disclosed on request and in their entirety 10 years after the date of the meeting in question, providing the formal Board meeting was held on or after 2 April 2012.

19. The AIC considers verbatim transcript requests. The AIC's decision on whether to disclose the transcript takes into account feedback on the content from departments, the Board of Directors and, if necessary, other parties.

20. The AIC, through SEC-IAU, informs the requester within 30 calendar days of the original request.

H. Procedures for Reporting to Management and the Board of Directors on Policy Implementation

21. The AIC reviews and approves the annual reports on the implementation of the AIP for circulation to the Board of Directors and public disclosure. The AIC promptly informs the staff, the Board of Directors, and the public of any changes to the implementation arrangements.

ANNEX 8: TERMS OF REFERENCE AND PRACTICES OF THE INDEPENDENT APPEALS PANEL

1. The Independent Appeals Panel (IAP) is an external body that serves as part of the two-stage appeals process for information requests denied by the Asian Development Bank (ADB).

A. Composition and Tenure

2. The IAP comprises three external experts on access to information matters. The President of ADB nominates and the ADB Board of Directors approves the appointment of the IAP members.

3. The IAP members could be (i) a representative of an ADB developing member country with adequate experience in access to information matters; (ii) an expert on access to information, independent of any government; and/or (iii) an expert on access to information in a commercial setting.

4. Each member of the IAP is appointed for an initial 3-year term, which may be renewed.

B. Responsibilities

5. The IAP considers appeals against decisions made by ADB's Access to Information Committee (AIC) alleging that ADB violated the Access to Information Policy (AIP) and/or its related Operations Manual by restricting access to information that it would normally disclose.

6. Specifically, the IAP has the authority to uphold or reverse the AIC's decision in the first-stage appeal to deny access to information. The IAP cannot consider (i) requests for information made to ADB under the public interest (positive override) and (ii) appeals against the Board of Directors' use of the negative override.

C. Meetings

7. The IAP members are engaged to work on an intermittent basis and only when called to consider an appeal against a decision made by the AIC. To the extent possible, the IAP will hold its deliberations by telephone, e-mail, and/or videoconference. Face-to-face meetings of the IAP members can be arranged in exceptional cases.

8. The IAP members are remunerated for time spent carrying out their responsibilities.

D. Administrative Arrangements

9. The Office of the Secretary (SEC) is responsible for providing administrative services for the IAP.

E. Eligibility of Appeals

10. The IAP considers an appeal only when the following requirements have been met:

- (i) the appeal is a matter that the IAP has authority to consider under the AIP;

- (ii) the appeal is against a decision made by the AIC to uphold an initial decision by ADB to deny access;
- (iii) the appeal is filed within 90 calendar days of the AIC's decision;
- (iv) the appeal contains sufficient information to reasonably support the requester's claim that ADB has violated the AIP by restricting access to information; and
- (v) the appeal does not concern a decision taken by ADB's President or Board of Directors, as the case may be, if the appeal is based on the public interest override or negative override set out in the AIP.

11. The IAP shall dismiss on procedural grounds and without considering the merits of the case of any appeal that does not meet the requirements set forth in para. 10.

F. Decisions

12. The IAP considers all appeals within 45 calendar days of receipt of the appeal. In case the IAP members cannot reach a unanimous decision, the decision is taken by majority vote. All decisions of the IAP are final.

13. In reviewing appeals, the IAP considers the appeal, opposing statements, if any, and the AIP exceptions to disclosure. On request of a third party, based on special circumstances, the IAP may decide to extend the period for a third party to file its statement.

14. Members of the IAP shall provide inputs toward finalizing the written decision of the IAP for each appeal, which will indicate the justification for either affirming or reversing the decision of the AIC in its entirety or in part.

15. Requesters are notified if the appeal is dismissed (i) for failure to file within the required time, (ii) for failure to provide sufficient information that would reasonably support the appeal, or (iii) because the IAP does not have the authority to consider the matter being appealed.

16. If the IAP upholds the prior decision to deny access to the information requested, ADB notifies the requester of the decision and specifies the reasons. If the IAP reverses the prior decision to deny access, ADB notifies the requester of the decision and provides the requested information. ADB posts on its website a list of all appeals received, the nature of each appeal, and the decision taken in each case. The list is updated following issuance of a decision.

G. Remedy

17. If the IAP reverses a decision of the AIC to deny access, the IAP's decision will list the information to be made available to the requester. The only remedy available to a requester who prevails on appeal is the receipt of the information requested.
