Frequently Asked Questions on ADB Sanctions

What is an ADB debarment and temporary suspension?
• Remedial actions imposed on entities that committed any integrity violation (including fraud, corruption, collusion, coercion, abuse, obstructive practice, or conflict of interest)
• Debarred or temporarily suspended entities are not eligible to participate in ADB-financed, -administered, or -supported activities

Can sanctions be imposed on an individual?
• Individuals can also be debarred or temporarily suspended
• This may be due to the individual’s role in an integrity violation or because the sanction extends to staff of a debarred firm

Do sanctions imposed on a firm apply to its employees or associated firms?
• Employees who have been explicitly named and debarred in connection with a firm’s debarment cannot participate in ADB-financed, -administered, and -supported activities
• Employees who have not been explicitly debarred but remain to be employed by the debarred firm are ineligible to participate in ADB-financed, -administered, and -supported activities

What happens to contracts that have previously been awarded to sanctioned parties but are still in progress?

• Temporary suspensions or debarments may not affect existing contractual obligations of the debarred party
• The Integrity Oversight Committee may recommend that operations departments modify existing contractual obligations
• Contract variations, including any modifications or extensions, must be endorsed by the Office of Anticorruption and Integrity (OAI) to ensure that they are not an attempt to circumvent an entity’s temporary suspension or debarment
• The temporarily suspended or debarred entity is required to inform the executing or implementing agency of its debarment or suspension and that ADB’s endorsement is required for any contract variation

OAI will assess the credibility and merits of any request for reinstatement, taking into consideration a range of factors including, but not limited to:*:
